For Immediate Release

NTI Launches COVID-19 Website

(December 2, 2020 – Iqaluit, Nunavut) Nunavut Tunngavik Inc. (NTI) introduces an online resource for COVID-19 support, COVID19.tunngavik.com. It is a hub of resources in Inuktitut, Inuinnaqtun and English to keep Inuit updated during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Information on the website will include how to stay healthy and protect your family, where to find support and counselling, safety measures on how to protect yourself from COVID-19, special announcements about new health programs and initiatives, as well as community support and updates.

NTI has also set up a COVID-19 email address for anyone looking for further information or has questions about the resources listed on the site, COVID-19@tunngavik.com.

As Nunavut continues with precautionary safety restrictions in the territory, NTI wants to remind you that staff are still available to answer any questions you may have.
